Scurrilous Allegations.

Please accept my apologies for the delay in producing this quarter's issue. The reason for the delay was not the usual problems of computer breakdowns or problems at the printers but an altogether more complex and sinister story.

With the issue pasted-up and ready to go to print, we were informed that the nefarious Searchlight organisation had circulated pre-production copies of their monthly "hit list" to the press and were making serious allegations that the League of St George and several individuals were engaged in illegal activities involving mercenaries.

We viewed a copy of the allegations and can completely deny them. Fuller details are available elsewhere in this issue. If the allegations had not been so serious, they might well have been humorous.

The statement, "the inner core of the League of St George, seven in total, all well heeled and middle aged, fanatical but discreet, wealthy but serious", holding a regular Sunday meeting in a South Coast pub, is straight out of an "Odessa File" type novel, obviously now mandatory reading for certain students at Sussex University!

On reading the allegations, I made enquiries with a member of the national press, who told me that none of the nationals were taking the story seriously and suggested that perhaps the Searchlight coffers were getting desperately low.

We have now heard that some, if not all of the individuals named in the article, are taking legal advice with a view to claiming damages against Searchlight for defamation. If that is the route they take, then they will find themselves at the back of an ever growing queue which includes, independent researcher Alexander Baron, libertarian Mark Taha and the distinguished historian and author David Irving.

By the end of the year Searchlight could find its coffers even emptier.

Comradely Gesture

We would like to publicly thank the organisers of the Great Yarmouth branch of the National Front for their Comradely gesture in passing on information about the newly formed British National Socialist Party. But for their information, many Nationalists may have put themselves at risk by contacting this Communist puppet group.

In a previous issue of League Sentinel we published a similar warning about Searchlight agent, Tony White, this information being provided by Leeds branch of the BNP.

Wouldn't it be nice if the leaderships of British Nationalist organisations could follow the example set by their members and learn to co-operate between themselves?

Chickens Home To Roost.

The United States has been the victim of several terrorist attacks recently. The Oklahoma bombing, the TWA aircraft blown out of the sky in Long Island and the attack at the Atlanta Olympics have prompted the US into being a prime mover in new international agreements on terrorism.

Now whilst we condemn all terrorist acts, especially where the lives of innocent people are lost, isn't it ironical that the very people who have consistently supported terrorism in the shape of, Nelson Mandela and the ANC, the Israeli terror attacks on Palestinian civilians and fundraising by the IRA, are now whining as their "Chickens come home to roost"?

Help Wanted.

In just a few months time we will be publishing a special issue of League Sentinel to commemorate the Centenary of the birth of Sir Oswald Mosley. To make this special edition as varied and as attractive as possible I am looking for photographs and articles either by or about this great man. Please help us to make this special edition something to be proud of and help us now!

The Editor.

THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT SUPPORTED MASSACRE OF THE INNOCENTS.

Britain's Tory government has brought shame on our entire nation by publicly supporting the massacre by Israel of over 100 Palestinian refugees, slaughtered during the bombardment of the "safe haven" United Nations compound in Quana, Lebanon, where they were taking shelter.

The compound, which was protected by Fijian soldiers seconded to the United Nations, housed over 600 Palestinian women and children became the deliberate target of an Israeli artillery bombardment. As UN personnel sifted through the wreckage of the camp in a futile search for survivors many of the searchers broke down and cried openly as they recovered the mutilated bodies of children as young as eight months old.

One 18 month old girl left blinded by the attack was unaware that she was now also an orphan. Her entire family of 26, including her parents and uncles and aunts, had been annihilated by Israeli shelling.

The attack came as part of the "Grapes of Wrath" campaign conducted by Israel against Hizbollah, the Palestinian freedom fighters dedicated to driving Israel from occupied Palestine.

When news of the attacks were revealed, prominent members of the British government besmirched the once proud reputation of our country by defending and supporting the attacks.

British Prime Minister, John Major, blamed the suffering on the Hizbollah campaign of attaining self-determination for the Palestinian peoples.

Following a meeting between the Israeli deputy Foreign minister, Eli Dayan, and British Ministers, Malcolm Rifkin and Jeremy Hanley, Dayan announced his satisfaction with the outcome by stating "Britain understands the importance of fighting terrorism". Thus giving the clear impression that the British Ministers had supported Israel's aggression.

The British Defence Secretary, Michael Portillo, who was on a visit to Israel when the slaughter took place, defended the atrocity by stating "I would not describe the Israeli reaction as disproportionate."

In the aftermath of the slaughter, the United Nations has censured Israel for the attack, which Israel now claims to have been a "logistical error".

To their shame the British government have sat on their hands and done nothing.

No demands for the punishment of the Israeli war criminals, no calls for international trials on charges of crimes against humanity, not even a boycott of Israeli goods and services.

Their continued silence brings shame and humiliation upon us all.

UN troops clear the bodies of women and children slaughtered by the Israelis. Tory Minister, Michael Portillo describes the attack as "not being disproportionate".

EAST LONDON

Tories Lodge Complaint Over SWP Tactics.

East London Conservatives have lodged a formal complaint with the returning officer about the intimidating behaviour of members and supporters of the SWP and their puppet Anti-Nazi League during two recent local ward by-elections in Tower Hamlets.

The Tories complained that the SWP "rent-a-mob" forced voters, in the De Beauvoir and Wick wards, to run a gauntlet of hate, which intimidated many voters into returning home without casting their votes. The returning officer declined to adjourn the election but passed on the complaints to the police.

It is believed the SWP were targeting their aggression at two candidates from the BNP. A police spokesman told League Sentinel that an investigation into alleged breaches of the Representation of the Peoples Act was taking place.

An unnamed spokesman for the local Conservatives confirmed the party was seeking legal advice aimed at getting the election declared void.

Footnote: Both BNP candidates polled just under 3%.

Police Deny Racial Motive As Asian Thugs Target White Pensioners.

White pensioners are regularly being attacked, robbed and beaten by Asian thugs in Bethnal Green, East London.

In just four days, three elderly white ladies were attacked by Asian thugs in broad daylight.

One 70 year old was attacked by a gang of three Asians aged about 20 and needed hospital treatment for shock. Then two "smart" looking Asian youths attacked an 83 year old lady, breaking her arm as they pushed her to the ground.

Two hours later, two Asian schoolboys aged about 15 were shocked when an 81 year old lady they were attacking retaliated forcing them to run off.

A police officer at Bethnal Green police station told League Sentinel, that despite all of the victims being white and all of the attackers Asian, the police were not treating the incidents as "racial".

SOUTHEND. ESSEX.

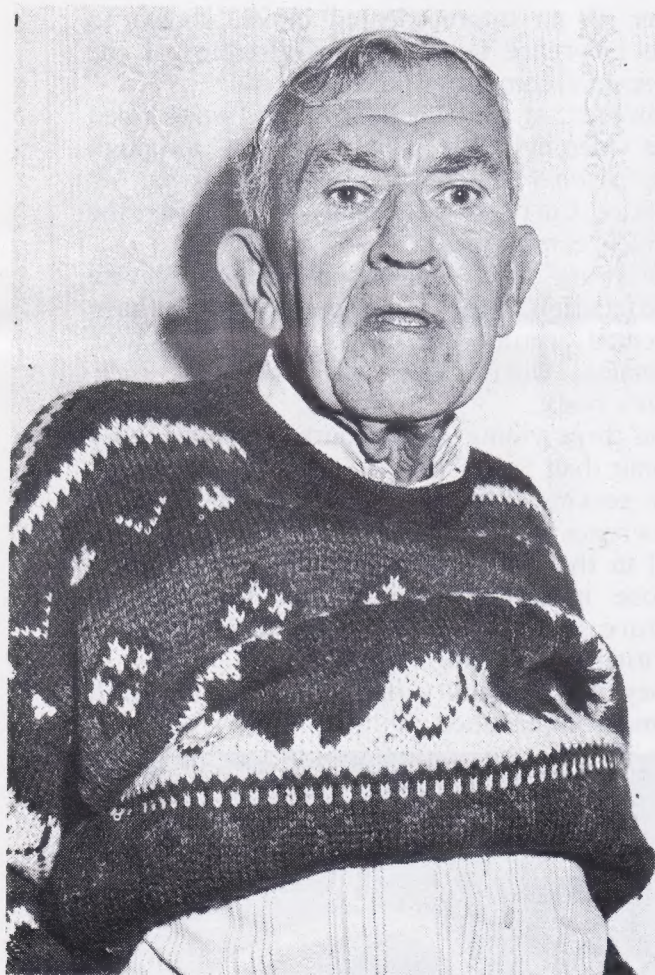

Local Council Ban SWP Papersellers.

Conservative-controlled Southend on Sea council have banned the Socialist Workers Party from selling their newspapers on the streets by enforcing a long standing local by-law.

In future, if the revolutionaries from the SWP want to hold street sales they must apply to the council in writing for a licence, and pay the appropriate fee just the same as any other capitalist street trader.

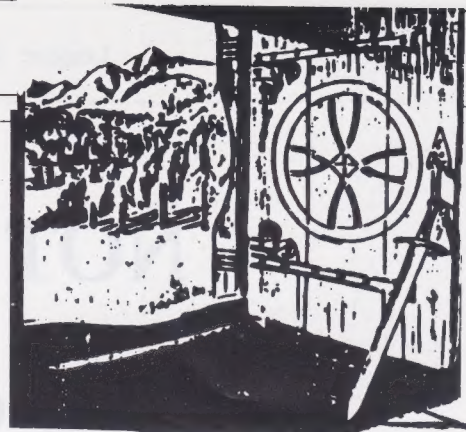

Robert Relf, Still Fighting, Still Winning.

Veteran Nationalist campaigner, Robert Relf, has been back to prison, after refusing to pay his council tax claiming the authorities waste the taxpayer's money by subsidizing immigrants. Proving "old habits die hard", Bob Relf immediately went on hunger strike in protest against the 60 day prison sentence imposed by Kent magistrates. After 14 days of fasting he was released, against his will, when supporters paid the £365 outstanding bill.

for refusing to take down a sign in the garden of his home which read "For Sale To a White Family Only".

Within days of being incarcerated, Bob Relf went on hunger strike. Campaigns to free him were mounted including a massive demonstration outside Winchester prison. With Bob only hours from death, the government finally capitulated to public opinion and released him.

Once released, Bob continued his fight for the British people by becoming a Nationalist candidate but found himself back in prison in 1979, again a victim of Britain's draconian race laws, when he was convicted of distributing "racist leaflets".

Now aged 71, Bob has vowed to continue his fight against the authorities and has not paid either the £90 court costs or this year's council tax. If he is sent back to prison Bob has vowed to go back on hunger strike. "I put my principles before my life and I will show the authorities that there is still one Englishman willing to die for his principles".

Mystery Over Missing BNP Mailing Lists.

The BNP have now admitted that during a raid on the home of their former administration official, Alf Waite, last year, names and addresses of Spearhead subscribers were stolen.

However, the party leadership still maintain that the records were stolen by members of another Nationalist group, despite the fact that responsibility for the raid has been claimed by Marxists and, the stolen lists have been used recently by Communists promoting their "fly-trap" group, the British National Socialist Party!

NOT GUILTY!

Eltham 3 Cleared By Judge.

Three young white men accused of the murder of black teenager Stephen Lawrence have walked free from the Old Bailey after the judge, Mr Justice Curtis, dismissed the case against them on the grounds of "insufficient evidence".

The case had been brought as a private prosecution by the family of Lawrence after the police and Crown Prosecution Service had refused to bring the case to court because of the lack of evidence.

The private prosecution was mainly funded by donations from extreme left groups such as the Anti-Nazi League, Panther UK and Militant Labour, who also held several protest marches which were in reality a thinly disguised political recruitment campaign.

Stephen Lawrence, an 18 year old black student, was stabbed to death at a bus stop in Eltham, South London, in April 1993, allegedly by a six-strong gang of white youths. The attack rapidly became a cause celebre for members of the extreme-left and those with vested interests working in the race relations industry who, ignorant of the real motives behind the killing, promoted it as a race murder.

Under pressure from black and red activists the police arrested two local men and charged them with the murder. Evidence was given by the only witness to the attack, Duwayne Brooks, a friend of the victim, who admitted he had fled the scene as soon as the attack was made.

Brooks continually changed his "eye-witness" evidence and claimed to be suffering from amnesia. Faced with this sole, unreliable witness, the Crown Prosecution Service decided there was not enough evidence to obtain a conviction and the case was dropped.

Senior members of the race relations industry, with a vested interest in the Lawrence case, persuaded the victims family to take out a private prosecution against four named suspects. A sum estimated to be in the region of £70,000 was raised for costs by various left-wing groups.

A video produced by a secret police camera hidden in the home of one of the defendants was, in an unprecedented move, shown to the Lawrence family and magistrates at the suspect's committal hearing.

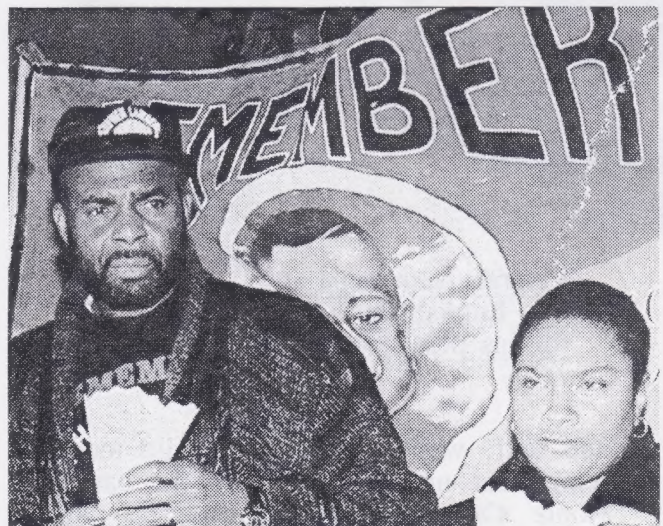

However, at the Old Bailey, the judge ruled the video evidence inadmissible and although no reason was given, it is suspected that Mr Justice Curtis was unhappy in the way the evidence was obtained.

Following the failure of their private prosecution, the Lawrence family have decided return to live in their native Jamaica, where they will also bury their son's body.

The three young white youths have no other home than South London to return to. They are seeking legal advice and may yet sue the Lawrence family.

All in their own way are victims. Victims of those in power who against the laws of nature seek to impose multi-racialism as a British way of life.

They are the guilty ones and, as yet, still remain unpunished.

NEW LABOUR

Champion Of Womens Rights Or The Party For Rapists And Perverts?

Tony Blair's efforts to persuade women voters that the "new" Labour party are the "champions of women's rights" faced a severe set back recently when it was disclosed that three prominent Labour supporters habitually used and abused women to satisfy their perverted sexual lust.

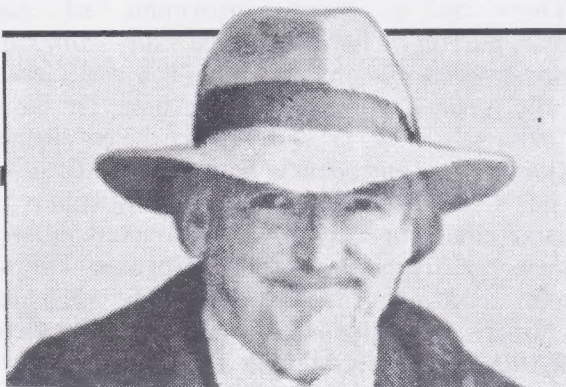

Owen Oyston, one of Labour's highest profile supporters and financial backers, was recently jailed for six years for raping a teenage model.

Millionaire Oyston, was both a regular and generous contributor to Labour party funds as well as donating money to left-wing poll tax defaulters threatened with jail.

But, despite his support of the "downtrodden", Oyston had one major fault: he was unable to keep his hands off of teenage girls.

When the law finally caught up with him, Oyston faced four charges of rape and four of indecent assault including offences against schoolgirls.

Sentencing 62 year old Oyston to six years for rape and three years for indecent assault, the judge, Mr Justice McCullough, made it clear to the court that he regarded Oyston as a "sexual predator who used his power and riches to feed his obsession with girls young enough to be his grandchildren".

Labour activist turned rapist, Owen Oyston.
"Obsessed with girls young enough to be his grandchildren".

Another example of new Labour's attitude to women is provided by school governor, Ian Malcolm, who, it has been revealed, regularly paid two mothers of pupils at his school, large sums of money to take part in masochistic spanking and beating sessions. After which they were expected to perform a sex act on him as he sat in his wheelchair.

Forty-three year old Malcolm, a prominent member of the Derby South Labour Party, and a disabled rights campaigner, is a regular speaker at Labour Party conferences and claims to be a close friend of shadow trade secretary, Margaret Beckett.

One wonders how Mrs Beckett reacted when she found that Malcolm was spending his disablement benefit, which the Labour Party claim is woefully inadequate, on sordid sex sessions!

The law of sub judice prevents us from reporting the full facts on Basildon, Essex, Labour councillor Chris Webb, other than to reveal that he has been remanded in custody charged with four counts of rape, one of indecent assault and one of gross indecency with a girl under the age of 16.

All of these cases, we believe, exposes the real face of "new" Labour. It's hypocrisy on women's rights is there for all to see. With a general election pending, it is up to all Nationalists to make sure the voting public are made fully aware of the REAL FACE OF LABOUR.

SENT DOWN

Part two of Searchlight's supremacist plot to destroy

LSG DENIES MERCENARY

In the beginning of July, Gerry Gable attempted to sell a tall story to the mass media. This tale was so fantastic that the national press would not touch it with a disinfected barge pole, it received a one-day airing on BBC Radio Kent, and was laughed away by a provincial newspaper. This was yet one more attempt by the sinister editor of the hate rag Searchlight to smear the League of St George, by pretending to "expose" a Nazi plot to overthrow a government, in this case the new government of South Africa.

Implicated in this conspiracy were three former Mosley men living on the South East coast, leading quiet, ordinary lives. One of these men, Robert Edwards, had previously been the victim of a hate campaign in the town of Ramsgate orchestrated by local Trotskyists and, no doubt, egged on by Gable's lie machine.

Edward's perfectly legal association with the local Tory party was the pretext for defamatory leaflets, harassment in public places and physical threats. But a recurring familiar feature was the "exposure" of his past as if it were some dark sinister secret covering some shame.

Fifteen years ago Edwards was sentenced to a year in prison for drawing the cartoons which appeared in a comic called "The Stormer". The conviction is spent, the time was served, and he should be permitted to lead his life unmolested.

The fantasies now being pedalled in the July issue of Searchlight add weight to the argument that Gable should be prosecuted for the harassment and defamation of law-abiding patriots so that once and for all the truth can be heard. For Gable, though, there are not many shekels in the truth and he is not very particular about the nature of his "sources" so long as the yarn conforms to his monomania, the "Nazi conspiracy". This is total invention on Gable's part with the consequence that ordinary citizens are labelled and hounded.

With his latest conspiracy theory Gable excels himself by enormity of the scenario, probably the reason the national press rejected his revelations. Entitled "Sent Down The Line", it claims to be a two year investigation by what Searchlight describes with astonishing license as "journalists".

There is a single informant of such disreputable character that any objective observer would instantly smell a rat. Gable's only source for what he claims to be an "exclusive" is a Dutchman called Ronald Deuster, a mercenary who fought first for the Croatians and then the Bosnians, a gunrunner for the IRA, a convicted killer, a deserter from the French Foreign Legion, and a known fact that Gable delicately chooses to gloss over a convicted RAPIST; placing him on the lowest rung of the order of existence.

A rumour being peddled in order to defame a Flemish patriot is that Deuster is in hiding with a price on his head when in fact it has been known for quite a while that he lives unmolested in a town called Vucht near Eindhoven in Holland. If our Flemish comrade was of the persuasion to have Deuster "taken out" then Vucht would not pose a problem as far as distance is concerned. This is just one more lie piled up on top of so many other lies to be traded and sold to any gullible journalist as the fruits of Gable's "investigations".

Deuster the mercenary places himself at the centre of an amazing web of international intrigue that would outdo Fleming, le Carre and Wheatley combined. The scenario is one so familiar to readers of cheap pulp fiction that only the briefest outline is necessary. This Nazi plot to destroy the new South Africa involves the recruitment of mercenaries, preferably Germans in order to authenticate the Nazi angle. To conform to all other conspiracy theories there is a "Mister Big" co-ordinating the world-wide operation, tentacle-like. There are flaws in the tale which reveal Gable's psychotic obsessive nature.

The German mercenaries were former soldiers of the DDR and, as such, were communists. There is no evidence of "neo-nazi" affiliations. Mercenaries are, by nature, apolitical and non-ideological and ply their trade for only two reasons...material gain and an enjoyment of killing. Deuster, in particular, had declared his sadistic lust to a Flemish patriot in terms which would make anyone's flesh creep. Are we really expected to believe the testimony of an opportunist killer and rapist, someone who by the nature of his chosen profession would do or say just about anything for payment?

There is evidence that the national media are wising up to Gable and are aware of what Searchlight's real function is, which certainly

I SPY A TERRORIST

THANET TIME

Watch out! Your pal in pub may

RAMSGATE could be a hot-bed of international TERRORISM, it is being claimed.

The Southwood area, home to Ramsgate Football Club, has never been known for its sharp-shooting, but according to anti-fascist magazine Searchlight all that has changed.

The mag makes the astonishing claim that a trio of Ramsgate men run a "safe house" in Southwood Road for gangs of Nazi MERCENARIES bent on destroying the new South Africa.

Bedraggled

The three men alleged to be at the hub of an international operation — with the somewhat less than sinister names of Bob, Roger and Tony — are supposed to have sheltered mercenaries from Germany, Holland and Belgium.

a Dutchman told Searchlight the trio had met the mercenaries in a Ramsgate pub. But he reckons the man was obviously talking DOUBLE DUTCH.

He said: "All I did was bump into someone in a pub and have a chat with them and suddenly I am accused of being involved in a bomb plot."

"They were just people who had come off the ferry and obviously popped in for a drink."

"They looked pretty tired and bedraggled actually, not what you might expect a terrorist to look like if, that is, there is a recognized dress code for international mercenaries."

"The whole thing is ridiculous. Now I suppose I can't speak to anyone in a pub, because they could be from the CIA or KGB."

"I am afraid to walk down the street and can't be seen talking to any Irishmen or I might be accused of being involved in the Manchester bombing."

"Obviously the magazine specializes

Ramsgate's local paper the, Thanet Times, treated the story as a "joke" but Searchlight's reasons for publishing the lies are sinister.

is not to throw light on the truth.

Gable makes the wildest allegations against both the League of St George and individual patriots in order to fuel the paranoia he has induced in certain minority groups in this country. It is also very clear that this disreputable activity has proved highly remunerative. It is time for certain influential backers of Gable to come to terms with the fact that they are being duped and to sever their links with this racket peddling lies, hate and malicious defamation.

There is no place in a democracy for such activity.

ITALY

Mussolini Resigns From National Alliance Party.

Alessandra Mussolini, the 32 year old granddaughter of Italian Fascist leader, Benito Mussolini, has shocked Italian politics by publicly resigning from the National Alliance Party and vacating her position as NA leader on Naples city council.

Miss Mussolini is said to be unhappy with the party trying to distance itself from its Fascist roots.

The National Alliance was formed as a result of an amalgamation of several Italian nationalist parties, with the main core coming from the Fascist Italian Socialist Movement, (MSI) which was formed in 1946 by supporters of Benito Mussolini.

Under its new leader, Gianfranco Fini, the National Alliance has sought to become a more populist party and this change of direction is believed by many, to have contributed to the party's poor showing in the recent Italian elections.

Miss Mussolini has said, "A Mussolini never accepts defeat" and confirmed she is considering forming her own party based on the principals of those of her grandfather.

SPAIN

General Remer Free To Stay in Spain.

Spain has refused to extradite to Germany, the former SS Major General, Otto Remer. Remer, now 83 years old, sought sanctuary in Spain in 1994 after being sentenced to two years imprisonment by a German court for Holocaust denial offences.

On arrival in Spain, Remer applied for political asylum claiming he was being persecuted in his own country for his political beliefs. In the meantime, Germany applied for his extradition.

Last month the Spanish supreme court decided that the General had committed no offences in Spain and as Holocaust denial was not an offence in Spain, Remer could not be deported.

In wartime Germany, Remer played a vital part in quickly re-establishing order in the aftermath of the July bomb plot.

CANADA

Canadian Authorities Refuse Zundel Citizenship.

The Canadian government has rejected an application for citizenship by Ernst Zundel, on the grounds that he is "a threat to the security of Canada". The recommendation for rejection was made by the Canadian Secret Service. This is despite the fact that Zundel has lived peacefully in Canada for over 38 years.

Sources close to Mr Zundel told League Sentinel that he intends to appeal against the decision claiming he is a victim of Canada's powerful Zionist lobby.

POLAND.

Polish authorities have ordered development work opposite the wartime labour camp at Auschwitz to stop, following complaints from the World Jewish Congress.

The decision has caused deep resentment in the nearby town of Oswiecim where local people had been expecting the development, which was to include a supermarket, a garden centre and a restaurant to provide much needed jobs.

AUSTRALIA

The Holocaust memorial in Brisbane, Queensland Province, has been vandalised by graffiti including the words "Six Million Lies in German Blood- C18"

Some cynical Aussies are suggesting a coincidence between the vandalism and a demand by the Australian Board of Deputies for tougher laws on anti-Semitism.

EUROPEAN UNION

Brussels.

In a surprise move, European Commissioner, Sir Leon Brittan, lined up with the British government in opposing proposals to make Holocaust-denial a criminal offence throughout Europe.

Sir Leon, who is Jewish, warned that such legislation would endanger freedom of expression and stated that he was not in favour of a law against Holocaust-denial anywhere within the European Community.

"It is one thing to incite hatred and another to express views, however disagreeable, on historic events".

Several of the left-wing groups and radical bookshops who make up Searchlight magazine's main avenue of distribution are beginning to boycott the publication, some over concerns that Searchlight is working to its own money making agenda rather than for "the cause" and others for fear of becoming involved in the libel case being brought against Searchlight and its distributors by Alexander Baron and Mark Taha.

One of the first groups to drop Searchlight advertisements from its publication was the Red Action dominated, Anti-Fascist Action, publishers of the occasional magazine, Fighting Talk. AFA accused Searchlight of failing to share intelligence on Nationalist activities with other anti-Fascist groups. AFA also harbour a sneaking suspicion that certain members of the Searchlight team know more than they are prepared to say about the "Kensington library affair" in which 17 AFA members were arrested by police who seemed to be pre-warned that an attack on Nationalists was being planned and consequently were extraordinarily near at hand to make arrests. AFA now advise their readers to send any information they have direct to AFA rather than rely on Searchlight and it's masters to decide what information should be passed on and what withheld.

WE URGE ALL OUR READERS TO GUARANTEE THE MILITANT ANTI-FASCIST MOVEMENT HAS THE NECESSARY INFORMATION TO SUCCESSFULLY BEAT THE FASCISTS.

AFA magazine, Fighting Talk, advises its readers to send information DIRECT to AFA rather than Searchlight.

The libel case against Searchlight has also influenced the decision by some "radical" bookshops to cease stocking the magazine. It would seem that Mr Baron and Mr Taha have extended their libel action to include distributors of the magazine, several of whom have already settled out of court.

London book-sellers, Housmans and Bookmarks, are promising to fight the libel case but, Housmans manager, Albert Beale, agreed that they had already settled with Alex Baron out of court. Simon Hessler, the manager of Bookmarks told a League Sentinel reporter that they had launched a fundraising appeal as the legal bills could bankrupt them.

Both shops have ceased to stock Searchlight.

Other "Independent" bookshops such as the Greenleaf Bookshop Co-operative, based in Coulston Street, Bristol are refusing to sell the magazine on the grounds that they believe "Searchlight magazine has been endangering anti-fascists by printing information about their whereabouts"

All in all, these are not "happy days" for the Searchlight team and, if rumours of the editor's ill-health are hopefully true, then perhaps British politics, both of the left and right, could soon become free of the malevolence and deceit that is Searchlight's trademark.

Recently it has been brought to our attention that Searchlight magazine has been endangering anti-fascists by printing information about their whereabouts.

We have therefore decided to stop selling it.

"The IRA are a Fascist organisation driven by bigoted sectarianism"

This amazing statement was made by Sean O' Callaghan, a member of an Irish Republican family who first joined the IRA at the age of 15.

O' Callaghan is currently serving 539 years for a variety of terrorist offences including two political murders.

The West African country of Zaire has set a useful example for European governments on how to deal with unwanted refugees. The Zairians first offered a voluntary repatriation scheme for all of the one million Rwandan refugees in Zaire but, when this offer was only taken up by a couple hundred, the Zairian army expelled some 15,000 refugees in just four days.

SECURITY ALERT

It has been brought to our attention that an organisation called The British National Socialist Party, operating from a PO Box in Bungay, Suffolk is led by a former communist party activist, Tony McHugh, now calling himself, Alexander Voltaire. In the mid to late 70's this person was a staunch anti-Fascist and his political grouping helped spawn Searchlight magazine. Our information is that the links between the two organisations are still as strong as they ever were and the BNSP is merely gathering names and addresses from those gullible enough to contact them. This information will no doubt feature in a future issue of Searchlight. Beware of the BNSP.

SENT DOWN THE LINE

Part two of Searchlight's investigation into the white supremacist plot to destroy South African democracy

GUIL

SG DENIES MERCENARY

the beginning of July, Gerry Gable attempted to tell a tall story to the mass media. This tale was so fantastic that the national press would not touch it. With a disinfected barge pole, it received a one-day airing on BBC Radio Kent, and was laughed away by a provincial newspaper. This was yet one more attempt by the sinister editor of the hate rag Searchlight to smear the League of St George, by pretending to "expose" a Nazi plot to overthrow a government, in this case the new government of South Africa.

his "sources" so long as the yarn conforms to his monomnias, the "Nazi conspiracy". This is total invention on Gable's part with the consequence that ordinary citizens are libelled and hounded.

With his latest conspiracy theory Gable excels himself by enormity of the scenario, probably the reason the national press rejected his revelations. Entitled "Sent Down The Line", it claims to be a two year investigation by what Searchlight describes with astonishing license as "journalists".

There is a single informant of such disreputable character that any objective observer would instantly smell a rat. Gable's only source for what he claims to be an "exclusive" is a Dutchman called Ronald Deuster, a mercenary who fought first for the Croats and then the Bosnians, a gunrunner for the IRA, a convicted killer, a deserter from the French Foreign Legion, and a known fact that Gable delicately chooses to gloss over a convicted RAPIST, placing him on the lowest rung of the order of existence.

A rumour being peddled in order to defame a Flemish patriot is that Deuster is in hiding with a price on his head when in fact it has been known for quite a while that he lives

CONNECTION AS GABLE

unmolested in a town called Vucht near Eindhoven in Holland. If our Flemish comrade was of the persuasion to have Deuster "taken out" then Vucht would not pose a problem as far as distance is concerned. This is just one more lie piled up on top of so many other lies to be traded and sold to any gullible journalist as the fruits of Gable's "investigations".

Deuster the mercenary places himself at the centre of an amazing web of international intrigue that would outdo Fleming, le Carre and Wheatley combined. The scenario is one so familiar to readers of cheap pulp fiction that only the briefest outline is necessary. This Nazi plot to destroy the new South Africa involves the recruitment of mercenaries, preferably Germans in order to authenticate the Nazi angle. To conform to all other conspiracy theories there is a "Mister Big" co-ordinating the world-wide operation, tentacle-like. There are flaws in the tale which reveal Gable's psychotic obsessive nature.

The German mercenaries were former soldiers of the DDR and, as such, were communists. There is no evidence of "neo-nazi" affiliations. Mercenaries are, by nature, apolitical and non-ideological and ply their trade for only two reasons...material gain and an enjoyment of killing. Deuster, in particular, had declared his sadistic lust to a Flemish patriot in terms which would make anyone's flesh creep. Are we really expected to believe the testimony of an opportunist killer and rapist, someone who by the nature of his chosen profession would do or say just about anything for payment?

There is evidence that the national media are wising up to Gable and are aware of what Searchlight's real function is, which certainly
